

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

1-49. (Canceled).

50. (Currently Amended) A method of prescribing and selling a medical supply through a website associated with a medical care provider comprising:

conducting a medical examination on a patient, wherein the medical examination is conducted by the medical care provider;

prescribing the medical supply for the patient, wherein the medical supply is prescribed by the medical care provider based on the results of the medical examination;

accessing the website hosted by a server associated with the medical care provider from a client computing device via a communication network, wherein the website includes an array of prescription medical supplies including the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider;

displaying the array of prescription medical supplies on a display connected to the client computing device;

identifying the prescribed medical supply by activating one or more links displayed on the display; ordering the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider from the website associated with the medical care provider by ordering the medical supply from a medical supply vendor that fulfills the electronic order placed through the website associated with the medical care provider, wherein the medical supply vendor is a supplier of medical devices; and submitting an electronic payment from the client computing device through an e-commerce provider to pay for the prescribed medical supply; and

~~wherein the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply receives~~ electronically routing an electronic payment to the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply for the medical supply ordered from the website associated with the medical care provider.

51-52. (Cancelled).

53. (Currently Amended) The method of claim ~~54~~ 50 wherein the medical supply vendor is a supplier of pharmaceutical products.

54. (Currently Amended) The method of claim ~~54~~ 50 wherein the medical supply vendor is the medical care provider.

55. (Cancelled).

56. (Currently Amended) The method of claim ~~55~~ 50 wherein the e-commerce provider credits or debits an account associated with the medical supply vendor for the sale of the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider.

57. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 56 wherein the e-commerce provider is the
medical care provider.

58. (Currently Amended) The method of claim ~~55~~ 50 wherein the e-commerce provider credits or debits an account associated with the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply for the sale of the medical supply.

59. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 58 wherein the e-commerce provider is the medical supply vendor.

60. (Currently Amended) The method of claim ~~55~~ 50 wherein the e-commerce provider credits or debits an account associated with the medical supply vendor and an account associated with the medical care provider for the sale of the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider.

61. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 50 wherein the medical care provider is a licensed medical care professional.

62. (Currently Amended) A method of prescribing and selling a medical supply through a website associated with a medical care provider comprising:

conducting a medical examination on a patient, wherein the medical examination is conducted by a medical care provider having a website;

prescribing a medical supply for the patient, wherein the medical supply is prescribed by the medical care provider based on the results of the medical examination;

via a communication network, providing access from a client computing device having a display to a computer server hosting the website associated with the medical care provider, wherein the website includes an array of prescription medical supplies including the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider for display to a user operating the client computing device;

~~wherein the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply receives~~ receiving, at the server hosting the website associated with the medical care provider, an electronic order through the website for the medical supply; and

~~wherein the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply receives~~ receiving an electronically routed electronic payment for the medical supply ordered from the website associated with the medical care provider.

63. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 62 further comprising arranging the electronic payment through an e-commerce provider for the medical supply prescribed by the medical care provider.

64. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 63 wherein the e-commerce provider electronically credits or debits an account associated with the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply for the sale of the medical supply.

65. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 63 wherein the e-commerce provider is the medical care provider.

66. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 62 wherein the medical care provider is a licensed medical care professional.

67. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 62 wherein providing access to the website associated with the medical care provider comprises maintaining a website on the World Wide Web.

68-71. (Withdrawn).